SAIGON (AP) — Waves of B52 bombers pounded North Vietnamese positions inside the demilitarized zone today for the first time in two months.

The giant bombers, each carrying 50,000 pounds of explosives, made three raids during the day on the northern half of the six-mile-wide zone between North and South Vietnam.

Their targets were the fortifications and artillery positions from which the North Vietnamese have been inflicting a heavy toll on U.S. Marine and South Vietnamese units just below the zone.

232 Yanks Killed

This toll was reflected in weekly casualty figures announced today which showed 232 Americans killed last week, the third highest death count for a seven-day period this year. But the U.S. Command said 2,114 Communist troops were killed last week, nearly double the 1,331 reported killed the week before and the highest enemy weekly toll in a month.

It was also reported that 1,170 U.S. servicemen were wounded and one was missing last week. South Vietnamese casualties were 150 killed, 460 wounded and 29 missing.

The U.S. Command reported an increase of 1,000 men last week in the number of American troops in South Vietnam, raising the total to 465,000. The strength of other foreign allied forces remained at 54,000 and the estimate of enemy strength also was unchanged at 296,000.

The B52 raids on the demilitarized zone highlighted a day of otherwise light action in South Vietnam.

Missile Threat Less

In the meantime, U.S. Marines made a 10-day ground sweep inside the zone in late May and small tactical bombers have pounded enemy artillery positions inside and just above the zone almost daily. In resuming the B52 strikes, U.S. commanders apparently felt the risk of missiles had been removed or greatly reduced.

Just below the zone, South Vietnamese infantrymen reported killing 76 Communist troops in a five-hour fight on Wednesday near the forward allied outpost at Gio Linh.

The South Vietnamese reported their own casualties were light in the 4½-hour fight about five miles below the demilitarized zone.

Loss Navy Plane

In the U.S. air offensive against North Vietnam, Air Force bombers returned to the MIG airbase at Hoa Lac 20 miles west of Hanoi Wednesday for the 11th time this year. Reconnaissance photos showed no planes on the field; instead dummy models were installed in parking revetments, apparently as decoys to lure American planes into anti-aircraft fire.

During their raids on the field Wednesday, Air Force pilots claimed destruction or damage to a number of buildings and to two anti-aircraft sites.

The raids Wednesday cost the Americans one plane, a Navy A4 Skyhawk which was shot down, but the pilot was rescued. The plane was the 603rd announced combat loss over North Vietnam.

THE PURPLE HEART, awarded posthumously to Sp4 Richard A. Johnson, Escanaba's first casualty of the Vietnam War, is received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson, 321 S. 18th St., from Major William Hollowell, U. S. Army, Iron Mountain. Sp4 Johnson, 20, was killed by a Viet Cong booby trap on May 7. He graduated from Escanaba Area Public High School in 1965 and entered the Army in 1966. The award is an expression of the nation's gratitude and everlasting appreciation "for your son's gallantry and devotion in the service of his country," Major Hollowell said. (Daily Press Photo)

Reserves Are Not Needed: M'Namara

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says he's "not sure how many" more U.S. troops must be sent to Vietnam, but top military officers say privately at least 25,000 are required just to regain lost momentum.

McNamara, back from his ninth trip to Vietnam, told President Johnson Wednesday more Americans must be dispatched to the war-torn Southeast Asian nation. He said there's no need to call up reserves, however. The subject was expected to be at the top of the list again today at a meeting of the National Security Council. Expected to join that session is Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam, who flew into Washington Wednesday night after attending his mother's funeral in Columbia, S.C.

He said on arrival that "if we have additional men, the result would be a greater pressure being brought to bear on the enemy."

Military officers contend the U.S. war effort has lost momentum in recent weeks due to troop shifts toward Vietnam's so-called demilitarized zone. They say privately the manpower decisions now under consideration at the White House will determine whether the war's progress moves at its current pace, stalls off or picks up.

McNamara told newsmen Wednesday 20,000 to 30,000 more men probably will be sent to Vietnam in the next 90 days as part of previously determined increases in manpower. But he said he did not know when a new force level decision would be reached.

Three Choices

He said 450,000 to 460,000 U.S. troops now are in Vietnam, President Johnson, the military believes, is faced with basically three considerations.

"We can assume there will be no more forces—but at a cost of slowing the momentum of the war," one ranking officer said.

"We can restore the momentum with one division. This would fill gaps left when about 15,000 Army troops are pulled northward to back up Marines battling intensified Communist thrusts along the DMZ."

"We can step up the pace with forces beyond that."

"The unfortunate part is that we can't predict as to the duration or termination of the war under any of those three options."

This officer, whose views may be indicative of the military recommendations to President Johnson, said the United States "could probably employ" as many as five additional divisions in South Vietnam.

Send Two Divisions?

There is, however, no great optimism among military men about the likelihood of getting anywhere near 200,000 in the next 12 months. Two divisions—75,000 or so men—appear to be the more likely total. The Army training structure has the capacity to train up to 90,000 men for Vietnam in the next 12 months if draft calls are increased.

In addition to replacing relocated troops with one division, military planners would deploy another division numbering perhaps 45,000 men in Vietnam's Central Highlands.

Its mission would be to seal off Communist infiltration into South Vietnam's Kontum Province along the country's boundary with Cambodia and Laos.

Other combat units could be used near the DMZ "to help," as this officer expressed it, "share the pounding" currently being dealt the Marines by North Vietnamese ground and artillery units.

There is also the question of whether to send sizable manpower into the Mekong Delta where the Viet Cong number an estimated 80,000.

Rail Shop Unions Threaten Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate House conferees, threatened with a nationwide rail strike unless they act by Saturday on anti-strike legislation, are considering a compromise plan that actually may lead to a walkout.

Six shopcraft unions, previously blocked twice by Congress from carrying out a threatened strike, say they will withdraw their current no-strike pledge if the conferees fail to agree by the end of this week on a plan to avert a strike.

But the compromise now under consideration would put into effect a five-man board's recommendations for a settlement unless they were rejected by both houses of Congress. The unions consider such a settlement to be compulsory arbitration, which a union leader says probably would lead to an immediate strike.

"We could be on strike in 20 minutes" if Congress enacts legislation to force a wage settlement, President P.L. "Roy" Scimiller of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists said Wednesday. The Machinists Union is one of those threatening a walkout.

The conferees are trying to compromise between a Senate-passed bill, which follows administration proposals for compulsory settlement, and the House version, which merely would extend for 90 days the period during which a strike is prohibited.

County Gives Aid For Ambulance

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors has voted to subsidize the operation of a county-wide professional ambulance service beginning Oct. 1 when many local funeral directors will end their ambulance operations. The subsidy is expected to total about $75,000 a year.

Record State Budget Of $1.1 Billion Passed

$13 Millions Are Cut From College Funds

LANSING (AP) — The Legislature hacked more than $12 million from Gov. George Romney's recommended aid to higher education Wednesday before approving a bill to spend $244,585,373.

At the same time, lawmakers approved a school aid increase of $5.6 million over last year's level, making a total of $303.2 million in general fund aid to the state's public school districts.

Another $359.1 for schools is expected from various restricted funds, making a state aid total of $662.3 million.

Colleges Cut

Over vigorous protests from the floor, the Legislature trimmed the general fund appropriation recommended by Romney for each of the 15 state-supported colleges and universities.

This was the story at the state's three major universities (figures in millions of dollars):

U-M: Last Year $58.09; Romney Budget $62.27; This Year $58.16; MSU: Last Year $55.27; Romney Budget $59.40; This Year $56.75; WSU: Last Year $32.32; Romney Budget $33.84; This Year $33.50.

The higher education bill cuts $330,000 from the $19,162,700 Romney recommended for aid to community colleges. It whittles $2.84 from the $22.43 million the governor earmarked for the State Department of Education. The department got $19.97 million last year.

Hardest hit by legislative changes in the school aid formula, opponents said, will be districts which receive substantial state assistance for transportation.

Not Satisfied

Although the department predicts $21 million will be needed for transportation payments during 1967-68, the Legislature agreed on a Senate-written $18.5 million limit on such aid. Rep. Clifford Smart, House Education Committee chairman, urged passage of the bill even though he was "not satisfied the least bit" with the spending level.

Smart said the Senate also exempted the smallest school districts—those with two and three-room schools—from the 5 per cent aid increase given larger districts.

Free World Ships Supply North Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain, R-Mich., said Wednesday ships from Great Britain, Italy and Cyprus delivered more goods to North Vietnam than Soviet Union ships last month.

Chamberlain, who has long sought to induce the U.S. government to take action against such shipments, told the House he was shocked and stunned by the latest reports he has received.

AMC Calls On Union To Consider Realities

DETROIT (AP) — The top negotiator for American Motors Corp. called today for the United Auto Workers Union to approach labor contract talks "in light of the realities" of an absence of profits.

Frank G. Armstrong, AMC vice president - administration, reminded the union the corporation, smallest of the U.S. automakers, failed to chalk up a profit last year.

"And we've had no profit so far this year," Armstrong said when asked if AMC would seek concessions from the union.

At his side was Pat Greathouse, the UAW's top bargainer with AMC, who said, "We're willing to grant consideration to any proposal the company makes."

"They haven't asked for any concessions so far, and we're expecting them to match the wages and benefits of the rest of the industry," Greathouse said.

Break Promised?

The two held a joint news conference as they opened talks on the top floor of Detroit's 21-story Fort Shelby Hotel. The UAW pact at AMC covers 17,750 employees and expires Oct. 16.

The negotiations began amid talk that the financially troubled

Walter Reuther Boning Up For Driver License

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther, known to drive a hard bargain, is learning to drive something else.

Reuther has a learner's permit and soon expects to get his driver's license so he can take the wheel of his 1967 Oldsmobile.

The UAW chief had a license once, but he let it lapse in 1948 when his right arm was injured in an assassination attempt. Since then, union aides have doubled as chauffeurs and bodyguards.

Reuther told Chrysler Corp. executives Wednesday about the learner's permit. He also said his wife, May, was in the market for a new car.

"I told her she ought to buy one of your new Plymouths," he said to Chrysler's chief contract negotiator, John Leary, administrative vice president.

It was a good opening for Chrysler officials, wondering if their firm would be struck by the UAW this fall.

"When does she want it?" asked William M. O'Brien, vice president for personnel.

But Reuther declined to set a date.

$52 Million Shy Of Romney Spending Plea

LANSING (AP) — The Legislature today passed a budget of $1,101 billion, highest in Michigan's history but some $52 million short of Gov. George Romney's recommendations.

Giving final approval to the general fund budget in a marathon, all-night session, the lawmakers wrapped up major legislation and prepared to adjourn until Aug. 1 when they will return for final adjournment.

The budget, outlining spending for the current fiscal year which began July 1, tops last year's estimated $1,066 billion in appropriations by some $35 million.

Romney recommended a $1,153 billion budget in his annual budget message to the Legislature last February. The full total of the 1967-68 budget is $1,101,144,155.

Besides the $1.1 billion general fund budget, the Legisla-

Civil Rights

LANSING (AP)—The Legislature boosted the controversial Civil Rights Commission's budget to $1.4 million Wednesday night, but the Senate turned down a bid to raise it to the level sought by Gov. George Romney.

The Senate defeated for the second time an appropriation for the current fiscal year of $2.03 million.

Sen. Coleman Young, (D-Detroit) one of three negroes in the Senate, recommended $2.03 million, but ran into opposition from Sen. Robert Huber, (R-Birmingham) who maintained there currently are no controls over the commission except financial controls held by the Legislature.

ture approved a $323 million distribution of restricted funds to various departments and agencies.

Equals Income

The State Revenue Department estimate total general fund revenue for fiscal 1967-68 at $1,107 billion. That plus a $13 million treasury surplus at the beginning of the period is believed to be enough to balance the budget, as required by the State Constitution.

However, some legislators warned it may be necessary to enact supplemental appropriations to make up for unforeseen expenses, particularly in education and social services—the

Kosygin's View:

China's Consent Not Needed For War Settlement

DEEP COVE, Nova Scotia (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin says the war in Vietnam is "susceptible to settlement, without the participation or endorsement of China," Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland industrialist said today in an interview.

"He was very positive about this," Eaton said.

At the same time, the financier continued, Kosygin links the Vietnamese war with the conflict between the Arabs and Israel. The Soviet leader has demanded an "immediate withdrawal" of Israeli troops from Arab territory overrun in the fighting.

Eaton said he had a conversation lasting 4½ hours with Kosygin in Canada on June 30. The Soviet leader had conferred with President Johnson in Glassboro, N.J., and with Fidel Castro in Havana. He stopped in Canada en route to Paris where he met with President Charles de Gaulle. Eaton said

Kosygin sent word to him through the Soviet Embassy in Washington, asking a meeting in Gander, Newfoundland.

The industrialist said Anatoly Doyntsin of the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa served as the interpreter.

For more than 10 years, Eaton has been on cordial terms with the Soviet leaders. He received the Lenin Peace Prize in 1960. He frequently talked with Nikita S. Khrushchev and Anastas I. Mikoyan. Eaton said he has known Kosygin for about 10 years.

Eaton said Kosygin opened their conversation by questioning him about the state of the American economy. He said he replied, "There has been a slight falling off, but on the whole it's excellent." The discussion then turned to the presidential election next year and Kosygin asked Eaton about the potential Republican candidates. Eaton said he mentioned those in the news but Kosygin made no comment.

English Urges Private U.P. Recreation Role

ROSCOMMON (AP)—A land developer told the Michigan Conservation Commission today that it should cooperate with private investors in developing a major tourist center at Porcupine Mountain State Park.

Jack B. English of Bessemer said the state should rely more heavily on private investment for developing the Upper Peninsula park.

Last year English criticized a commission plan to build a state-operated ski area in the Porcupine Mountains, saying that the state could not properly run a ski area and that the public facility would provide unfair competition to private facilities in the area.

Need Development

English told the commission he would be glad to step aside

if the state wished to work with some other developer but said that cooperation with private developers is essential if the area is to prosper.

English, frequently referred to as the "Guidelines for Tourism" report, a recently-published study of the economic potential of tourist development in the Upper Peninsula.

He said that the report calls for the development of major tourist centers across the Peninsula, "centers incorporating recreational, cultural and educational attraction." He added that "if such development is not undertaken... the people of Upper Michigan are in real economic trouble."

(The "Guidelines" study was produced by Uel Blank and Clare Gunn for the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress. Financing of the report, which cost approximately $100,000, was undertaken by the federal Economic Development Administration and Michigan State University.)

Operates Resort
English, who operates Indianhead Mountain ski resort at Bessemer, said his earlier criticisms concerned the fact that "the state can't really run a good ski area." He said this is so because the state "can't advertise and because it can't promote the building of supporting food and lodging facilities around the ski area." He said this results in the state-run ski facility, which can afford to charge lower rates, drawing away from private operations some of the skiers which the private areas' advertising and promotion monies have attracted.

Early in 1967, the Conservation Commission asked for bids from private operators for lease of the ski area at the Porcupine. English submitted a bid which he said was based on average return the U.S. Forest Service receives for leasing its lands for ski area use. This averages about 2.5 per cent of total gross receipts.

Forbids Drinks
The Conservation Commission rejected this bid and called for a minimum rental of about $60,000 annually to operate the ski area. English said that "the restrictions on the use of the land wouldn't permit sufficient revenue-producing facilities to pay that much rent without going bankrupt."

The sale of alcoholic beverages and the building of lodging facilities at the ski area would not be possible under current restrictions.

English said that he didn't see how such a rental figure would be economically feasible, unless something such as "a toll gate could be installed at the park and a charge levied on each visitor." But, he pointed out, such revenue would not be coming from the lessee, but directly from the "pockets of the visiting public." English added that he doesn't "recommend such a policy, and I think all can agree that it wouldn't be a desirable park policy."

Ontonagon Learns Fourth Area Man Killed In Vietnam

ONTONAGON (AP)—This tiny community in Michigan's Upper Peninsula learned Wednesday a fourth serviceman from the area has died in the Vietnam War.

Latest victim was Army Pfc. William Dellvon, 1. He reportedly was driving a supply truck near Danang when he was wounded fatally.

Dellvon is survived by his parents, a sister and a brother.

The R. J. Enstrom Corp., announced today that it has received word that its helicopter has been approved for use by the U. S. Forest Service, which uses helicopters throughout the country for seeding, fire fighting, carrying supplies, surveying, etc., and is one of the largest users of helicopters in the world.

The first contract for U. S. Forest Service by an Enstrom helicopter is in Oregon. The Enstrom helicopter operated by Sportsman Air Park, Inc., Newberg, Ore., is used to carry supplies to forest rangers and for surveying.

Congress Fed Up With Unilateral Action Says Ford

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—House minority leader Gerald Ford, R-Mich., said Wednesday that Congress is "fed up with unilateral action" in foreign affairs on the part of the White House.

He said some criticism by members of Congress this week of President Johnson's ordering three military transport planes to the Congo showed that Congress wanted a say in such matters.

"Congress doesn't want the president and the secretary of state taking unilateral action," he said.

"I hope they learned their lesson."

Limestone Girl Carries The Mail For Menominee

TRENARY—A slightly built, pleasant little red head from Alger County is among the first in the Upper Peninsula — if not the first — to invade what once was man's exclusive domain.

Joyce Lillian Carlson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carlson of Limestone and a 1967 graduate of Trenary High School, is carrying the mail in Menominee. She's a female postman, so to speak in fractured English.

She went to work delivering mail for the Menominee post office on July 11 and will be employed throughout the summer as a relief letter carrier to enable regular postmen to take vacations.

Soon after graduation from high school late in May, she decided to enroll in the federal youth opportunity program, went to Escanaba to take a civil service examination (scoring a rather phenomenal 100 per cent), and chose Menominee as the place where she would like to work. While there she's staying with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Holmquist.

Although the Alger County teenager has taken on a man-sized job, Miss Carlson has encountered few problems so far. She's footsore at the end of a full day's work, of course, and still has difficulty finding addresses. But outside of those problems — and occasional rainy weather — she's enjoying her summer job.

In September Miss Carlson will go to Marquette to begin her studies at Northern Michigan University, where she plans to major in social work or physical education.

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP)—Ansil Co. of Marinette, Wis., is one of eight chemical firms sharing in a $57.69 million defense contract to produce chemicals to defoliate Vietnam jungles.

The Pentagon said about $10 million worth of defoliants were used in Vietnam last year to kill the vegetation that hides and feeds the enemy.

The defoliants are not harmful to human or animal life and do not make crop land sterile, the Pentagon said.

The Pentagon also said that specific amounts of each award was not being released, at the request of the companies involved, because such information would relate to production capacity.

Work Dignifies Citizenship, Horch Tells U.P. Seminar

The changing emphasis of work from great physical effort to increased mental activity in the age of the computer only emphasizes the dignity of work in the concept of good citizenship and the American free enterprise system.

This was the message in part brought to the U.P. Citizenship Seminar by Charles H. Horch, area manufacturing manager for the Mead Corp., Chillicothe, Ohio, at its dinner session at Marco's Wednesday evening.

The seminar is sponsored by the County Farm Bureau in Upper Michigan and the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. William Hemes, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was toastmaster at the banquet attended by about 100 persons. The invocation and benediction were by the Rev. Walfrid Nelson, pastor, Bethany Lutheran Church.

Changing World

The seminar program will conclude today with discussions led by Dr. T. C. Petersen, director of program development for the Farm Bureau.

Horch, who joined Mead in 1947, was secured as banquet speaker by George S. Douglas, general manager, Escanaba Division, of Mead. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas were dinner guests.

Horch discussed the American free enterprise system and described the changes occurring today in the nation's political, social and economic system.

He defined economics as: The science of treating with production, distribution and consumption of goods and services, and the political welfare of mankind.

Capitalism, he said, is a system under which the means of production, distribution, and exchange are in a large measure privately owned and directed — with the concentration of capital in the hands of the few.

How It Works

It was Henry Ford who in 1914 raised wages and reduced working hours in the automobile industry and freed the worker from proletarian servitude and minimum subsistence wages in which capitalism had thought to imprison him, Horch reported.

And Samuel Gompers, the founder of the American Federation of Labor, insisted that unions should rely on bargaining with employers and avoid ties with government and political parties.

"The American worker is no longer a proletarian — his work has given him the purchasing power that makes him a customer and often a stock-CITIZENSHIP SEMINAR for the Upper Peninsula, stressing the obligations and accomplishments of the free enterprise system, concludes today in Escanaba. holder — an owner," Horch pointed out.

"He is a free citizen in a free Republic. He votes as he pleases. Above all, he has persuaded the entire nation to accept the wholly anti-capitalist concept that a worker is a human being and is not a commodity or an article of commerce."

The Incentive

"The American economic and social revolution is the only revolution of modern times to have achieved its aim," the speaker declared.

The only reason for the existence of any business is to provide necessary goods and services. "Competition, when allowed to work freely under the law of supply and demand, will cause these goods and services to be priced fairly."

"In our way of life, profit is the driving force which provides the incentive, and competition is the balance wheel which has produced an abundance of goods and services at a price which has encouraged consumption," the Mead Corp. official continued.

Profit has provided the many benefits enjoyed by America and has encouraged hard work and incentive.

Work Is Changing

Work — the physical or mental exertion to achieve a purpose — is the life blood of the American system and will continue to be of paramount importance in our economy.

The nature of work has changed from great physical effort to more mental activity, and educators and businessmen "must work together to anticipate and plan for these changes so that the finished product of our schools — our youth — will be prepared mentally and emotionally to accept the challenges and responsibilities of the jobs ahead."

A strong economy and full employment can be achieved

while still retaining a sound profit position to provide the incentives necessary in our system, Horch said.

Needed In Schools

But it is a complex situation further complicated by "the bigness of our federal and state governments and their commitments and determination to spend an increasing share of our wages as well as their interference with natural competitive forces," he continued.

"This is why I feel so strongly that we should all insist on presenting in the schools a good, sound, unbiased, basic course in American economics to every child when they are old enough to comprehend the subject."

Courses in logic should also be taught, to better aid individual understanding of issues and to make sound decisions — "then I believe that we shall again have government that represents the intelligent wishes of the people."

"We will have a generation of Americans who understand the necessity of work, and productivity, who will be able to enjoy their leisure which their profits have made possible, and who will be able to spend for their own purposes the profits which their labors have created."

Excess Highway Property To Be Sold In U.P.

The State Highway Commission next month will offer 44 parcels of excess land in the Upper Peninsula at public auction.

Three of the properties are located in Baraga County, 11 in Dickinson, nine in Gogebic, one in Houghton, 18 in Marquette and two in Menominee County. The auction will be held Aug. 15 in the Iron County Courthouse, Crystal Falls.

Minimum opening bids, determined by recent appraisal, range from $10 to $12,500, and sizes of properties from 50 square feet to 74 acres. Properties bid to more than $5,000 may be purchased on land contract.

The Menominee County properties and their minimum bid: Two acres of land on the northwest corner of U.S. 41 and School Rd., in Daggett, $200.

One and one-half acres of land on the west side of U.S. 41 between County Rd. 358 and School Rd., in Daggett, $900.

Comm'l Code School Friday

Professor Roy L. Steinheimer, Jr., of the University of Michigan Law School will teach the two-day course, "Current Developments Under the UCC" in Escanaba, July 14 and 15. The program will be held in the Circuit Courtroom of the Delta County Building.

Presented by the Institute of Continuing Legal Education of The University of Michigan Law School, Wayne State University Law School and the State Bar of Michigan, the seminar will also be held at Lansing, July 28 and 29.

Professor Steinheimer, one of the leading authorities on the Uniform Commercial Code, will recent developments as they affect secured transactions; sales and bulk transfers; and commercial paper and related problems under the UCC.

Steinheimer joined the University of Michigan Law School faculty in 1950. Before his appointment, he was a member of the law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell, New York City.

Kimberly-Clark Plans Big Paper Plant In Mexico

Neenah, Wis. — Kimberly-Clark Corp. plans to build an $18.5 million pulp and paper plant in Mexico. It will be the company's largest plant in Latin America.

The facility will be at Orizaba, about 175 miles southwest of Mexico City.

W. W. Cross, vice-president for international operations, said the new plant would supply pulp for a present Kimberly-Clark mill near Mexico City.

Construction has begun on the Orizaba pulp mill. It will produce 25,000 tons of pulp a year from sugar cane. The company said the mill would be its first to use sugar cane by-products for pulp, although several Latin American companies do so.

Jacking Up Wages

The dickering that creates new labor contracts in the automobile industry and tries to avoid a strike when the present ones expire in September is underway at Detroit.

This is watched at the end of every contract period with fascinated interest and also with considerable concern by Michigan and by the nation. The auto industry is a bellwether of the American economy. It is a too industry for consumption of steel and rubber and electrical components and its state of health affects the national financial pulse.

Also, the wages that auto workers get set a sort of pattern for the state and for the nation. The auto workers were pioneers in the effort to cut on the industrial pie more equitably so that workers share more equally with management and investors.

As the negotiations for new contracts begin there is the usual strong offensive by Walter Reuther's Auto Workers. The package of demands that has been delivered to the auto companies is the biggest ever. Reuther has said that the UAW will get a guaranteed annual wage or strike. This is a new element in UAW demand.

The reasoning being the guaranteed annual wage as the union states it: Auto company executives know what they're going to earn in a year. Why shouldn't the workers?

On top of this guaranteed annual wage the UAW will seek a profit sharing plan to get a cut of the company's profits. The UAW calls it an "equity sharing" plan. It's a means of getting the union a share of the profits of GM, Ford and Chrysler after getting a bigger share of the cost of producing automobiles by the guaranteed annual wage.

Profit sharing is not new in the auto industry. UAW has had it with American Motors (Rambler) since 1961, but in recent years there have not been AMC profits to provide the two weeks of extra pay negotiated in 1964. Profit sharing as a principle is significant in labor-management relations, but it can take many forms, ranging from innocuous to forceful.

The United Auto Workers membership does not necessarily think just like its leadership about increased income. The stress of the union leadership in recent years has been on fringes and wage arrangements that give the workers increased security.

But the AFL-CIO recently took a national poll on membership attitudes on wages and benefits which indicates that the auto workers and other skill groups in the AFL-CIO are more interested in paychecks than in security. Unionists have become members of the middle class in America and it requires large and increasing income to maintain a family in the middle class. Union members — caught in this squeeze — say they want more wages.

Partial sampling in the AFL-CIO poll in the east showed unionists out "more money" at the top of their list of demands. Second was improved retirement programs, with emphasis on earlier retirement, not improved benefits, seeking quicker advancement in seniority with the old hands retired early. Reuther's guaranteed annual wage rated a poor third in unionists' requests. Other UAW goals like more paid holidays and profit sharing failed to attract much attention.

Reuther is a social welfare activist. Part of his quarrel with George Meany, the head of the AFL-CIO, grows from Meany's acceptance of a fat cat role for his unionists in the American economy and society. Reuther wants to improve the workers lot by economic integration and civic stature as well as by bigger paychecks. The union attitude, if its own poll is credited, seems to be strongly: Take the cash and let the credit go.

A public which pretty much regards the auto workers as among our best-paid American unionists may be surprised to learn that the auto workers are much impressed with the big wage increases won recently by workers in the building trades and they want some of the same.

The public (and unionists are a big part of it) doesn't look like a winner in this race. From 1960 to '66 wages in the auto and equipment industry went up 12.1 per cent, profits 87.9 per cent and prices dropped only 0.2 per cent. So the auto workers want some off the top, too.

A TYPICAL SCENE in the Upper Peninsula's greatest hayland area — Chippewa County. ## Lower Peninsula Sending Cattle To Summer In U.P.

By JEAN WORTH

The greatest hay lands of the Upper Peninsula are in Chippewa County. Here a person may look for mile after mile and see an unending layout of flat fields, farm houses and hay barns.

The area has changed, of course, like all other farming areas in the Upper Peninsula, but despite the virtual disappearance of the draft horse as a work animal, Chippewa keeps its lead position as a hay producer.

Karl Larson, Chippewa's able extension agent, reports that flax, once a big crop in Chippewa County, has almost completely disappeared. When subsidies on oil crops ended in the late 1940's it was done.

But the heavy clay lands still are producing a lot of hay. When you go to a big city track and see the horses run they're probably been fueled with Chippewa hay. The county is down to three big hay dealers and they shipped out more than 350 carloads of hay a year and much of it goes to race tracks and to stables that are boarded light horses.

Grassy Hay

In addition to this shipment there is a substantial volume that moves out by truck and the further volume that is consumed by the county's dairy and beef cattle industries at home.

Chippewa's hay has a high percentage of grasses like timothy and brome, which makes it favored by the horse stables, in contrast to the hay for dairy rations for which legumes like alfalfa and clover are favored. Chippewa's heavy soils are poorly drained and so they're not very friendly toward the legumes, which are deep rooted and need drainage.

Larson reports that Chippewa, like the other U.P. agricultural counties, has more beef cattle and fewer dairy cattle on its farms and that the farms are being consolidated. Dairy farms have increased in size since the last census, says Larson, but the county has lost relatively few dairy cattle, while increasing its beef cow numbers.

Cattle From U.P.

In 1939 Chippewa had 251 beef cows and in 1964 it had 2,280. Delta in the same years had 365 and 2,610. Chippewa counted 4,300 milk cows on its farms in 1939 and 4,000 in 1964. Delta, with larger herds, slipped even more, from 6,100 to 4,800.

"I don't think any great change has taken place in rural Chippewa County," says Larson. "There is a tendency toward awareness that farm operators need to become more involved in public relations work. I don't think we influence any young people to stay on the farms. We do make a special effort to help those who decide this is a way of life."

"We are seeing units of feeder cattle and in some cases cows coming in from Lower Michigan to be pastured in the summer months. Just how far this will go I'm not able to guess at the moment, but it does seem to be a trend that is reasonable."

Nixon Forces Move

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A very strange chapter in 1968 Republican presidential politics is being quietly unfolded in New York.

Persistently passing along the grapevine is the unconfirmed story of an important meeting of Richard M. Nixon's forces, supposed to have taken place on a recent Monday evening at the Gramercy Park Hotel in Manhattan.

Principals alleged to have taken part in the meeting deny heatedly that it was ever held. One man says he was in Philadelphia on the night in question.

The intriguing thing about all this is the elaborate detail attached to the report, and the fact that this detail is the same no matter who tells the story.

Allegedly, this was the first of 10 regional meetings of Nixon's forces, intended to cover New York State from Erie County (Buffalo) to Long Island. The Manhattan session supposedly embraced the five New York City boroughs and suburban Westchester and Nassau counties. Poughkeepsie on the lower Hudson River is reported to be the site of the next meeting.

Organizers of the Manhattan affair are said to be Charles McWhorter and Peter Flanagan, veteran Nixon flacks. A precise 53 persons were in attendance, with 14 from conservative Queens, so the story goes.

This is what they are supposed to have talked about: Not trying to raid now on a big scale for delegates to the 1968 GOP convention, but planning instead a substantial revolt against Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's leadership and control of the New York delegation in the event Rockefeller's choice — Gov. George Romney of Michigan — falters in the spring primaries.

(At least two Nixon candidates for 1968 delegate from Queens are already in prospect.)

When detail is this explicit, it usually suggests there is some fire amid the smoke. But checkout on this story by a variety of persons has produced nothing but denials.

If the Gramercy Park Hotel meeting never occurred, and no others are planned across the state, then the questions arise: Who would circulate a story so persuasive in its particulars, and why?

The why is easy to answer. Such a report, if just halfway plausible, could alert Nelson Rockefeller to a major threat to his control of the 92-member 1968 convention delegation. In actual fact, the story, true or not, has had exactly this effect upon the governor.

He is preparing to tighten his grip on the still-unchosen delegation. At the moment it is being held largely for Romney behind the favorite son candidacy of New York Sen. Jacob Javits. If the menace looks great enough, the firm word is that Rockefeller will inject himself as favorite son.

"You get maximum discipline in the party when the boss himself is the favorite son," says a high New York source.

Obviously, if this device were resorted to, it would make any springtime raiding efforts by the Nixon forces extremely difficult.

Rockefeller is riding high in New York. Until it is known whether he might seek a fourth governorship term in 1970, or whether he might try to influence strongly the choice of a successor nominee, New York Republican leaders and lower echelon party men run considerable risk in crossing him.

Furthermore, many key New York Republicans see Rockefeller, rather than Illinois Sen. Charles Percy, as their real "fall-back guy" among the moderates, if Romney should stumble in the primaries. One poll also shows Rocky pulling well among moderates in other eastern states.

Yet, as this reporter will show in a later account, Rockefeller, on the 1968 national stage is today a very mixed story.

Romney is still the moderates' front runner. The presumption underlying the denials of the Nixon Gramercy Park meeting has to be that someone interested in the Romney — Rockefeller cause planted the story. But at this writing, the evidence is not conclusive one way or the other.

The Escanaba Fair Savings Bank Store held a bargain sale that obviously was too good for the Escanaba housewives to miss. It offered seven bars of Swift's Pride Laundry Soap for 25 cents or a 100 bar box for only $3.38, and the entire supply was sold out within a few hours of the store's opening.

July 13 happened to fall on Friday this year, but despite many superstitious fears and predictions, the day passed without any unusual or abnormal occurrences.

Questions And Answers

Q—Do any birds have teeth?
A—In no living bird are teeth present. Substituting for teeth is a powerful gizzard which grinds food when necessary. The gizzard is located near the bird's center of gravity.

Q—What qualities give to mahogany its high value?
A—The rich, reddish brown wood is fine-grained and capable of taking a high polish. For this reason, it is one of the most highly prized materials used in cabinet work.

Q—What is the imperial emblem of Japan?
A—The golden chrysanthemum.

Q—What price was recently paid for a 1902 painting by Pablo Picasso?
A—Picasso's "Mere et Enfant de Profil," a painting from the artist's "blue period" was recently sold for $532,000 — the most ever paid for a painting by a living artist.

Q—What traditional ruler of Ethiopia is mentioned in the Bible?
A—The Queen of Sheba, of whom the Bible speaks, once ruled the country.

Q—What name did Davy Crockett give to his hunting rifle?
A—"Old Betsy."

Ann Landers

Qualities Of A Mate More Meaningful

Dear Ann Landers: I chuckled when I read your typical Landers' reply to the woman who married a handsome man and ended up lonely and miserable. You said, "Marrying for looks is a lot like buying wax fruit. You can starve to death looking at it."

I am something of an authority on this subject since I have had both types. My first husband was so good looking I could scarcely get him away from the mirror to go to work. My second husband was an ugly little runt. I am sure now that I picked Number Two for his ugliness, having been completely soured on beautiful people.

Now I realize that looks had nothing to do with either of my marriages. Just because a man is ugly does not mean he will be faithful, considerate or kind. (The runt cheated more than the Adonis.)

If I marry again I will pay no attention to a man's looks. I will judge him strictly on the basis of what we have in common, his character, maturity and most of all, his appreciation for me. — TWICE DECEIVED

Dear Twice: I hope all the teen-age girls who see your letter will learn something from it. Dozens of gals who write to me say they are head-over-heels in love and then they go into raptures over the guy's looks. They don't mention one word about character, maturity or the way he treats a female. The qualities to look for in a mate are the very ones you mentioned. Thanks a heap.

Dear Ann Landers: Three years ago my daughter and her husband had a big fight and he walked out on her. They are now divorced and my daughter went to live on the West Coast.

When my daughter left she asked me to take her little boy. He was only six months old then and a sickly child, at that. I said yes on the condition she would promise not to ask for him later. She agreed to let me raise him to manhood.

In the three years my daughter has been away she has never returned to see the boy. He has become very attached to me and calls me "Mommy."

Last week my daughter called to say she is getting married to a doctor who lost his wife two years ago. The doctor had no children and he is eager to have this boy. I reminded my daughter of her promise and she said she is sorry to break her word but she has changed her mind.

This boy is my whole life and it will kill me to part with him. Please tell me what I can do to keep him. Is the law on my side? — HEARTSICK

Dear Heartsick: The child is hers, and the law is on her side. Of course she should not have made such a foolish promise, and it is wrong to go back on one's word, but a larger issue is at stake here and I hope you will see it that way.

There are many children who need the love and care you can give. Call the Family Service Agency and make plans to take a foster child in your home.

Confidential to Green Grass Blues: Sometimes the grass looks greener on the other side of the fence because the people over there take better care of it. If you will be honest with yourself you will admit you have not been the best wife and mother in the world. Pull up your socks and work harder to fulfill your responsibilities. The rewards can be tremendous.

Do you feel ill at ease . . . out of it? Is everyone having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mockingbird Is Miami Beach Pest

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Miami Beach residents near Euclid Avenue and 16th Street have been besieged for the past two weeks by a skydiving, head-pecking mockingbird.

The bird spots his victim, swoops down and hits from behind.

Most of the time, he flies down directly from the top of a building. But for sneak sorties, he's been known to roost in a 15-foot palm tree.

The residents want to get rid of the bird and they insist that they're not just being soreheads but they're worried about what will happen if the bird attacks an elderly person with a weak heart.

Opening lead—♥Q

Here is a hand from the recent Eastern championships that is almost a double-dummy problem. In other words, try to make the slam after looking at all 52 cards.

We will give you a hint. You can't make it against a trump opening but you do get a queen of hearts lead.

When George Rowe of New York played it, the queen of hearts was led. George ducked in dummy. West shifted to a trump but the shift came too late to beat the contract.

George won in dummy, led a diamond to his ace and ruffed a diamond. Then he came back to his hand with the queen of clubs and ruffed a second diamond.

At this point George stopped to cash dummy's ace of hearts. Then he came to his hand again with the king of clubs in order to ruff his last diamond. Then he ruffed a heart; played out his last two trumps and made the last trick with dummy's ace of clubs.

Why would a trump opening have beaten the slam? South would have no way to get back to his hand often enough to ruff three diamonds in dummy. He would have to rely on making four club tricks and as you can see the clubs don't break.

Could South have lost by his line of play? Not as long as trumps broke 3-2 and clubs as good as 4-2, and the other suits reasonably — and, of course, as long as a trump wasn't opened.

MSU's Nigeria Faculty Advisers Are Evacuated

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State University has announced that some 16 of its faculty advisers to the University of Nigeria have been evacuated from an area where civil war has broken out.

The university said the professors, who were unharmed, were taken from the University of Nigeria's Nsukka campus to its campus at Enugu, about 40 miles south.

The wives and children of the advisers had been evacuated about a month ago.

Nsukka is located near the border where Nigerian federal troops have clashed with soldiers of the new republic of Biafra, formerly Eastern Nigeria. MSU spokesmen said:

The advisers have been assisting the Nigerians since shortly before the country gained its independence in 1960.

Israel Visitors Flood New York Passport Office

NEW YORK (AP) — When threats of war rumbled across the Sinai Desert last month and reverberated around the world, the reaction of many Americans was to help Israel, in money, in mind and often in person.

Some said they would fight for Israel if the U.S. government would permit it. Some went there to work on collective farms and in factories to free Israeli men for battle.

When the war ended, those who wanted to help were joined by those who simply wanted to see.

The result has been nearly six weeks of massive tangle in the State Department passport division, with one of every five passport applications here specifying trips to Israel and many others listing Arab nations where there is no ban on travel, especially Lebanon.

"We're in a virtual state of siege," said Joseph R. Callahan, agent in charge of the New York City office where the brunt of passport applications were filed.

No Change Is Made In Draft

LANSING (AP) — Michigan draft boards will continue to induct men between the ages of 19 and 26 with the oldest being chosen first, Col. Arthur A. Holmes, State Director of Selective Service said Wednesday.

It had been expected that there might be some changes in policy as a result of the Military Selective Service Act of 1967 signed recently by President Johnson authorizing the secretary of defense to place induction calls under present rules or to call designated age groups.

There had been speculation that the department would call men in the 19-year-old age group in the near future.

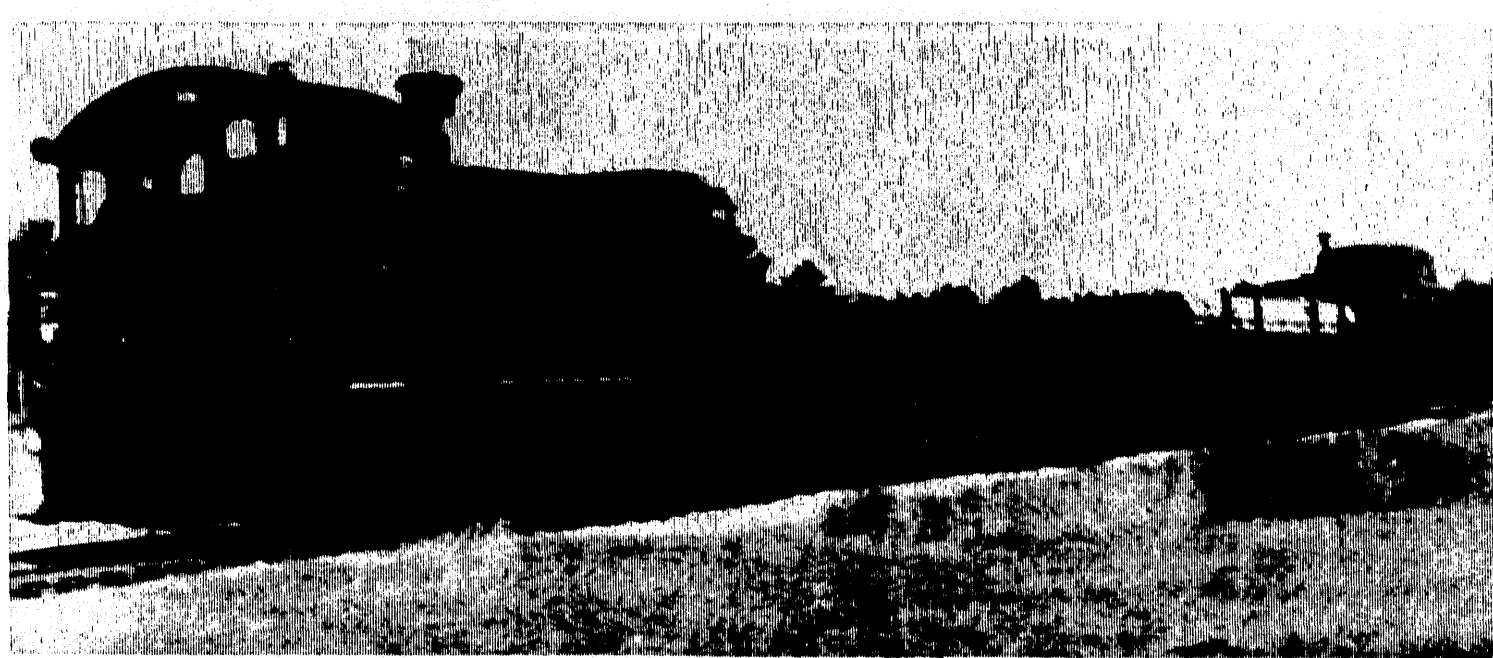

The average induction age now is approximately 20.

However, Holmes said the department has advised the Selective Service System that it is not anticipated there will be a call by age groups within the next year.

Holmes said the department apparently is receiving adequate numbers of young men to meet requirements through present induction and enlistment programs.

So far this year, draft calls have been filled with single men and men married after Aug. 26, 1965. Men married before that date are in the next selection group, but have not been needed to fill calls.

Holmes said it is not anticipated that these married men will be needed as long as draft calls remain at present levels.

A MANISTIQUE & LAKE SUPERIOR Railroad train at a crossing on M-94 south of Shingleton, heads northward to the end of the line at Doty with one full car of freight (gasline pipes), where it connects with the Lake Superior &

Ishpeming Railroad. Declining traffic on the M&LS has reduced service to one train "about once a week," and abandonment of the line is being sought.

'Haywire Line' Faces Extinction

By JAMES L. CARTER

Of Panax Newspaper

SHINGLETON—The Manistique & Lake Superior Railroad, a rusting, 40-mile line which winds among lakes and pines in Alger and Schoolcraft Counties, has one engine and one caboose — and a bleak future.

Officials of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railroad, which owns the little M&LS, have filed with Interstate Commerce Commission a petition to abandon the line because most shippers are bypassing it, and business has fallen off to almost nothing.

Line Ends At Shingleton

Dubbed "The Haywire Line" for most of its 70 years of existence, the M&LS has rolling stock consisting of an engine and a caboose. Its 40 miles of track stretch from the Lake Michigan port of Manistique to the old sawmill town of Shingleton, about 11 miles from Munising on Lake Superior.

About once a week, the M&LS train with a couple of boxcars chugs northward from Manistique through some of Michigan's most verdant forest land. Much of the track goes through the Hiawatha National Forest and over three dozen lakes dot the landscape within a mile or two of the right-of-way.

Little Activity Along Route

Mostly logs and pulpwood make up the freight haul — just as it has since the line was laid through pine forests at the turn of the century. There's not much activity any more at places along the line like Hiawatha, Klondike, Spruceville or Doty. The logging spurs have been pulled up, and the big shingle mills at Shingleton near the northern terminus cut teils last cedar logs years ago.

Like an unwanted stepchild, the M&LS was shunted from one owner to another until it found a home with the Ann Arbor Railroad as an extension of its Frankfort - Manistique ferry runs. It also serves as a connecting link between major Upper Michigan railroads running east and west.

11 Employees Keep It Running

Eleven employees keep the "Haywire" running. Yards and general office are in Manistique. There's no roundhouse, but the engine is shipped periodically to Chesapeake & Ohio facilities in Grand Rapids for a tune-up and repairs. Dale Ott, Manistique, chief clerk, told this reporter, "Things don't

City Manager Melvin Reese said the youngsters will be encouraged to become career city employees after completing the summer program.

Wind Shift Sends Decaying Alewives To State Beaches

CHICAGO (AP) — Thanks to cooperating winds, Chicagoans can expect relief from the smell of decaying alewives at least until Friday. But weathermen predict that a huge wave of dead fish will hit Michigan beaches.

Alewives are a salt water fish that have migrated to the Great Lakes. They perish by the millions and winds stick them along beaches.

The problem is shifting with the wind-blown alewives to the western shore of Michigan, across the lake.

The West Michigan Tourist Association urged the federal government Tuesday to declare the Lake Michigan shoreline a "disaster area." The association asked that the government assume the responsibilities of removing a blight jeopardizing Michigan's tourist business.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., asked federal authorities Wednesday to assign trainees in the Job Corps and the antipollution program to clean Great Lakes beaches of decaying alewives.

Petoskey Lights Up With Gas In Business Area

PETOSKEY (AP) — This northern Lower Michigan community returned to the gas light era Tuesday as gas fired street lights in the business district are formally dedicated and turned on.

Gas lights along Howard and Lake Streets in a resort shop area and on the campus of North Central Michigan College will be set ablaze during ceremonies attended by civic leaders and representatives of Michigan Consolidated Company.

The gas light idea flickered in the mind of Bill Barney, one of the shop keepers downtown, and eventually grew to full flame with appointment of a committee looking into converting the business district entirely to gas lights.

Governor Vetoes County Road Bill

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney announced he has used his veto power for the first time this year, rejecting a bill to give "a vast expansion of ill-defined responsibilities" to county road commissions.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Martin Butz, R-Comstock Park, would change the name of such a body to Board of County road and Transportation Commissioners.

It would empower the boards to develop long-range highway plans and to accept federal, state and private funds for that purpose.

Romney said such planning by county boards would interfere with the current trends toward home rule and coordinated transportation development and planning.

With 64 Beds:

Medicenter Plan Proposed Here; Board Approves

Plans for a 64-bed extended care medical facility at Doctors Park in Escanaba as outlined by the local sponsors and a representative of Medicenter Inc., were approved by the Board of Appeals in a meeting at the City Hall Wednesday afternoon.

The proposed facility would serve those persons who have been in the hospital, no longer need active hospital care, but do require medical care, said Dr. Raymond Hockstad, representing Willow Creek Developers, sponsors of the project.

Dr. Hockstad and Dr. Byron Zini, both associated with Doctors Park, were present for the Board meeting, together with legal counsel for the sponsors.

Need Financing

Bruce Gray, Memphis, Tenn., representing Medicenter Inc.,

described the proposed facility. It will have 64 beds, be of concrete, steel and brick, and will be attractively designed and landscaped, he said.

The sponsors emphasized that while a survey now under way is expected to show the project is economically feasible, the question of financing has yet to be answered before there is definite assurance the medicenter will be constructed.

The location of the proposed building is at 2520 S. 7th Ave., directly west of the present Doctors Park provides immediate access to the hospital and adjacent properties were invited. There were no objections filed. The area is zoned Class C residential, permitting multiple dwellings, but the facility needed Appeal Board sanction.

Meet All Standards

The proposed building will be on the tax roll; there will be a skilled nursing staff on duty at all times; the building and its operation will meet all state requirements, the Board was told.

The location adjacent to Doctors Park provides that immediate and accessible attention from doctors that is necessary for such a facility, it was pointed out. Residents, however, will continue to be served by the physician of their choice.

St. Francis Hospital presently has between 20 and 30 patients occupying beds who could be moved to a medicenter — if there was one, the Board was advised.

The medicenter would be open to the patients of any doctor in the area and they would continue under his care.

There would be an agreement between the hospital and the medicenter permitting patients to be transferred to or from one or the other to meet the needs of the patient.

Medicenter Needed

For the past nine months or so, St. Francis Hospital has not (for most of the time) accepted patients unless the doctor classified them as an emergency.

There is need in Escanaba for such a facility as the medicenter, to relieve pressures on existing facilities.

The Delta Nursing Home, a building owned by the County, will have to be rebuilt at considerable cost if it is to continue in operation. If it does not take steps to meet requirements, it must close by Oct. 1. There are now about 45 beds there. If the structure is rebuilt and not enlarged the number of residents that can be accommodated will be reduced.

The proposed medicenter could be expanded by an additional 64 beds if the need arises, Gray told the Board.

Next steps in the project, if financing is obtained, would be to receive State Health Department approval and then proceed with construction. The building could be completed in seven or eight months from the start of construction.

Printers Oppose Antitrust Break For Newspapers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO International Typographical Union urged Congress today to reject an antitrust law exemption proposed for financially troubled newspapers, and instead consider setting fair price requirements for news services and features.

"We suggest an expansion of opportunity for a free press, rather than the lynching proposed," ITU President Elmer Brown told the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

"The government might see that news services, features, advertising and other news services for a newspaper be made available to all on a fair price basis. Many other commodities are regulated by fair trade practices to prevent unfair competition and monopoly," Brown said.

But Richard E. Day, a law professor from Ohio State University, said the antitrust exemption proposed to permit merger or joint commercial operation by financially failing newspapers would promote, not stifle, competition.

"It is in the public interest to permit the reduction of competition in commercial activities at this early stage to save the newspaper's life as a competitor in the news and editorial field," Day said.

Chatham Flock To Test Turkey Plan

By JEAN WORTH

CHATHAM — Marshall McLuhan, the pundit of television, says that sex, as Americans now think about it, may soon be dead. The He-Man and the She-Girl, he thinks, are losing out to a neuter trend that is shortening the distinctions between the sexes so much that you can't tell at first glance whether it's a boy or a girl with that long hair.

It's not that way with meat animals. Geneticists are now breeding them to produce males or females, as the market desires, and it has made significant advances in this direction because the sex of animals is determined by the sperm of the male and they can influence it.

With poultry it's different. The female determines the sex of the bird to be hatched from the egg and she's not easily influenced. So commercial poultry breeders take pot luck on the sex of the birds they hatch out and rear for egg production or meat marketing, or both. As nature arranges it they'll be within one per cent of evenly divided, half males, half females.

Historic Experiment

An experiment in poultry breeding new to Michigan and to the world started this week at the poultry station of Michigan State University's Upper Peninsula farm experiment station here with the arrival of some 1,800 broad breasted turkeys of the Nicholas strain. They're big white birds, bred so relentlessly by poultry specialists to get the qualities that the market desires in poultry (white feathers so the pin feathers don't show in a poorly dressed bird, etc.) that they can no longer mate naturally with good rate of reproduction and must be artificially inseminated.

Turkey raising is big business in America, with 7.5 pounds of consumption per capita. (Compared to 32.7 pounds of the very popular chicken and 100 of beef.) North Carolina, whose Charlotte area produced the turkeys for the current Chatham experiment, South Carolina, Texas, Oregon and other states are top turkey growers.

Industrial Opportunity

Dr. Howard Zindel, head of the MSU Poultry Department, who ordered the Chatham turkey researches, said "The South lost cotton and tobacco crops and the bankers introduced poultry."

Dr. Zindel seeks turkey raising as a potential for Michigan, which raises about a million birds a year. The industry hasn't grown much in the state in years. "We have had some turkey hatching egg businesses in the late spring and early summer," said Dr. Zindel, "but Michigan can produce the year around. We have done it at the experiment station at East Lansing and now we'll show that it can be done commercially."

The farm census shows no commercial turkey raising in the Upper Peninsula so it's ideal for experimentation because it has no turkey diseases. We have got to go inside in this business to get environmental control — to care for the extremes of humidity, heat and cold. We have got to get turkeys off the range; it has nothing for them.

Summer Problem

"Turkeys are sold the year around and we can produce them the year around. In the south, where they are raised in large numbers, there is a summer problem of eggs which are not fertile nor hatchable. The toms wilt and the hen lays no eggs. It isn't hot here at Chatham and we can produce fertile, hatchable eggs the year around. We will guarantee raisers that our eggs are 85 per cent fertile."

"When four flock is laying,"

MSU's Dr. Howard Zindel shows the type of turkey nesting areas provided for the pen houses at Chatham. When the turkey hen goes into a pen to lay an egg it pushes the two bars to gain entry. This brings down another set of bars which lock into position and deny entry to a second turkey until the first leaves the nest.

says Dr. John Wolford, research assistant to Dr. Zindel, "they should produce 700 eggs a day average. We'll ship air express to Charlotte, N. C., for hatching 25 cases of eggs containing 200 eggs to the case and worth 35 cents or more an egg every week."

The foundation stock for the experiment is the second flock bought by MSU. The first did not pass the health exam and was sold for 19 cents a pound for meat, starting the research with a sizeable loss. The birds had PLOO (pleural pneumonia-like organisms), and egg-transmitted disease which the poultry specialists look for constantly, as they do for salmonella pullorum and typhimurium. All the eggs produced at Chatham will be treated in a fumigator to kill any organisms.

Chatham Flock

Turkey hatching eggs can't be washed, so dirty eggs will be placed in an incubator to test their hatchability and assure that the 85 per cent standard is being met.

The turkey flock here numbers 496 hens in cages which were designed by Dr. Wolford and specially manufactured for this experiment. They're the first of their kind in the world. Eggs roll down the tilted floor to a trough for collection. Water and a turkey starter ration rich in vitamins and minerals are available in troughs at all times. The house is darkened and the lights burn only from 7 a. m. to 3 p. m., daily.

There are 467 hens in Pen 2 and 467 hens in Pen 3. The males, 215 of them, are in Pen 4 and there's a pen of a hundred or so spares for replacements in another pen. The birds cost $1.25 each as day old poults.

They were shipped 400 miles from East Lansing here in one truck in cages on July 12 in 12 hours without loss of a bird. The hens will be inseminated artificially about every 10 days and they're expected to produce about 70 eggs in 17 weeks and then they go to market for meat birds and will be succeeded by another flock.

The male toms weigh about 26.5 pounds after 25 weeks and the hens 20 pounds after 18 weeks.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

$52 Million Shy Of Romney Spending Plea

largest areas of spending. The state's new income taxes, passed not quite two weeks ago, are expected to account for $174 million of the revenue for this fiscal year. Sales taxes are expected to total about $249.7 million.

A 2.6 per cent personal income tax takes effect Oct. 1. Income taxes of 5.6 per cent on corporations and 7 per cent on financial institutions become effective next Jan. 1.

School Aid Largest

Largest appropriation calls for expenditure of $303.2 million for school aid.

This includes an increase in aid to public schools, estimated at about $24 million.

However, the bill places a ceiling of $3 million on remedial reading programs which totaled $7.5 million last year and limits transportation to $18 million, compared with $20 million last year.

House Education Committee chairman Clifford Smart, R-Walled Lake, said the remedial reading ceiling was not harmful because federal funds would make up the difference. But he said the cut in transportation aid will work a real hardship on districts which depend on school buses.

The second largest bill provides $244,585,378 for higher education and general education, with about $204 million going to the state's colleges and universities.

Medicaid, $65 Million

In addition, $164,674,334 goes to social services, including $55.67 million for the state's medical program.

The Legislature approved $65.2 million for general government grants and transfers, including $1.39 million for the controversial Civil Rights Commission.

Also approved were bills to spend $39.5 million for capital outlay, $131.2 million for mental health, $17.9 million for public health, $22.9 million for State Police and the Military Department, $15.9 million for three regulatory departments, and $19.2 million for the conservation and agriculture departments.

The $1.1 billion figure represents a hard-fought compromise between the Senate, which originally reported from committee a $1,047 billion budget, and the House, which went above Romney's recommendations to $1,174 billion.

The final total was $73 million below the original House committee figure and $54 million more than the spending level first approved by the Senate.

Welfare Cut

Major areas of difference were social services (welfare), where the Senate cut the House figure about $39 million; higher education, where the House added $15.5 million; school aid, where the House figure was $24 million higher; and capital outlay, where the House added $6.6 million to the Senate bill.

The Senate increased its proposed budget $11.6 million when it withdrew a proposal that it cut the $24 million State Police budget be taken from restricted highway funds rather than the general fund.

The hardest-fought issues, not surprisingly, were the biggest ones — education, school aid and social services.

The Senate bills provided no change in the current school aid formula. That would have left the figure at an estimated $291 million. The House first tacked on a $24 million increase. They settled on a $12.2 million hike.

Soo Man Killed In Car Crash

OWOSSO (AP) — A Sault Ste. Marie man died today when his speeding car went out of control and was demolished in a wild series of crashes.

The victim was David C. Shannon, 35.

The vehicle, going north on a county road near Durand, 12 miles southeast of Owosso, first rammed into a ditch, roared out and crossed the road, plowed through a concrete pillar at a driveway, sailed 50 feet through the air and hit a telephone pole 12 feet above the ground, then crashed on its top, police said.

DEARBORN (AP) — Harold MacDonald of Bloomfield Hills has been appointed vice president for car engineering for Ford Motor Co. He has been with Ford since 1948 and has been chief engineer of the Ford Division car product engineering office since 1965.

Ferry Crews Resume Work

LUDINGTON (AP) — Crewmen returned to their jobs aboard six Chesapeake & Ohio Railway car ferries today as negotiations on a labor grievance continued.

Representatives of the railway and the National Maritime Union agreed Wednesday night to continue talks after the men returned to work.

The six ferries had been tied up in port at Ludington since Tuesday when deckhands on the City of Midland walked off their jobs in a dispute involving a garbage detail. Other members of the union left their jobs as the ships returned to Ludington from Lake Michigan crossings.

The first ferry scheduled to return the service is the Spartan on a 4 p. m. run to Milwaukee.

Company negotiators indicated they would not continue discussions in the dispute until the ferries were back in service.

Shooting War Real On Suez

EL QANTARA, Occupied Egypt (AP) — The Middle East war is still going on for the tense Israeli veterans in this battle-scarred town, facing Egyptian troops only 150 yards away across the deserted Suez Canal.

"A cease-fire there may be," said a captain at the army headquarters, "but as far as we're concerned it is still war."

"Nothing more may happen for now or for perhaps another 10 years, but it is going to happen. We can't go on like this."

In El Qantara, a dusty little town on the east bank of the canal, the shooting war is still a reality.

Egyptian snipers fired Wednesday at a patrol of Sinai veterans north of Ismailia. There were no casualties. But the Israelis said the Egyptians also opened up on three patrol Jeeps south of Ismailia, wounding two Israelis. A military spokesman said in five hours of firing the Egyptians used machine guns, mortars, tanks and artillery, and the Israelis knocked out a tank and several machinegun pits.

On Tuesday, sharpshooting Israeli antiaircraft gunners a few miles east of El Qantara downed one of two fighter-bombers which flew over the east bank. It took only four shots from their 75mm guns.

Makeshift blinds of sackcloth have been strung up at the ends of streets facing the Egyptian bank so the Egyptians cannot observe Israeli movements.

One artillery battery commander radioed for instructions last week when his positions came under fire.

"Shall I return the fire?" he asked.

"No, I shouldn't bother. They won't hit anything anyway," headquarters told him.

Brother Clement Celebrates His 25th Anniversary

Brother Clement Tourangeau, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tourangeau Sr. of 405 S. 10th St., Escanaba, formerly of Flat Rock, celebrated his 25th anniversary in the Norbertine Order on June 17.

He is presently assigned at the Norbertine Father Priory, Paoli, Pa.

A mass was celebrated at 1 o'clock at the Holy Family Church, Flat Rock, with Fr. Thomas Andary officiating. Mrs. Russell Sargent was organist and Mrs. Art Tourangeau Jr., sang at the offertory and communion.

A reception was held at the Flat Rock Town Hall for members of the immediate family.

Altrusa Club Meets, Installs New Officers

The regular monthly meeting of the Altrusa Club was a picnic held at the home of the incoming president, Mrs. Margaret Gilbert, on M-35, this week. A business meeting followed the cook-out type meal.

Members heard letters of thanks from John Varo, for their donations to Bay Cliff Health Camp and from Mrs. Virginia Rusch in appreciation for the club sponsored scholarship to Bay de Noe College for next fall.

The members also unanimously accepted a list of 14 proposed candidates according to their various business and professional classifications. The list was compiled by the incoming membership chairman Eva Fienstrom.

New officers for the 1967-68 year are: President, Mrs. Margaret Gilbert; Vice president, Mrs. Tyne Kangas; secretary, Mrs. M.H. Garrard Jr.; Treasurer, Mrs. Mel Oslund.

Plans for the August meeting were formulated when Altrusa members will be the guests of Mrs. Elsie Peterson for a picnic supper at her summer home on the Stonington Peninsula.

State Fisheries Men To Discuss Salmon Planting

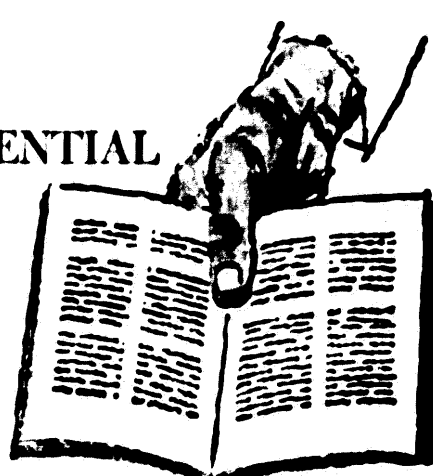

Wayne Tody, chief of the fish division, Michigan Department of Conservation, will head a group of state fisheries experts who will discuss the state's program of salmon planting at a meeting to be held in Marquette on July 25.

Besides the assessments, evaluations, and expansion of the salmon planting program, the group will discuss:

Future direction of the Great Lakes fisheries; present and future hatchery status; fish stocking guidelines; water quality criteria and other matters.

Attending from this area will be Clifford Long, district fish biologist, and Dave Johnson, fish biologist trainee, both of Escanaba.

OUR CONFIDENTIAL FILES

This may be news, but we keep confidential files. They are maintained for your convenience and protection.

Every pharmacist keeps a complete record of prescriptions. A file number on a medicine container enables us to identify quickly any prescription, to tell you when it was filled and who your doctor was.

Should any member of your family accidentally swallow some pills from a long-forgotten bottle, this information becomes extremely vital. With it, a physician can determine immediately whether or not emergency treatment is necessary.

Pentagon Insists U.S. Weaponry Equal To Needs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon, taking issue with some retired military leaders, says the United States has enough nuclear weapons to discourage any attack on this country.

Among the group contending the Soviet Union is gaining military superiority are Air Force Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, who for 12 years headed the intercontinental ballistic missile development program; Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, former commander of the Atlantic Fleet; Dr. Edward Teller, the nuclear scientist who often is referred to as father of the hydrogen bomb, also is in the group.

They said evidence indicates "the Soviet Union is succeeding in its massive drive toward strategic military superiority and that the United States is cooperating in this effort by slowing down its side of the arms race."

Claim Lead Slipping
The group said in a report released Monday the United States will lose its lead this year over the Soviet Union in deployable nuclear power.

They said that by 1971, "a massive, negotiable gap will have developed." This refers to the atomic force of strategic weapons. One negotiable equals one million tons of TNT.

The Pentagon, asked to comment, said it wouldn't discuss negotiable figures because they are classified. But it did maintain that numbers of weapons and size of warheads alone "are a very incomplete indicator of military strength."

Discourages Attack
"True military capability results from numbers of weapons that are accurate and reliable, that can survive an enemy attack and that can penetrate enemy defenses," the Defense Department said. "The United States has and will continue to have more than enough of such weapons to convince any enemy that an attack on this country would be suicidal."

The group, headed by Schriever, also said the United States should deploy an ABM — antiballistic missile system — because in its absence "and with our offensive weapons restricted to a wholly defensive role, the danger of a general nuclear war is greatly increased."

The Johnson administration's present policy is to hold off deployment of the ABM, which would be designed to intercept incoming enemy warheads.

Woman Named To Head Caro State Hospital

LANSING (AP) — Dr. Betty McFarland was named medical superintendent of Caro State Hospital, becoming the first woman to hold such a position at a Michigan state hospital.

Dr. McFarland was appointed by State Mental Health Director William Anderson to fill the vacancy created by the May 1 retirement of Dr. William Dickerson.

A former superintendent of Clover Bottom hospital and school at Donelson, Tenn., she will begin her duties July 31, taking over from acting Superintendent Andreas Heath, who will resume his position as administrative officer.

Dr. McFarland also has been senior staff physician at Gracewood State school and hospital in Georgia and was in private practice in pediatrics at Galax, Va., and Dublin, Ga.

"As a pediatrician she has gained high professional stature," Anderson said. "Post-graduate training in psychiatry and mental retardation adds a valuable dimension to her proven capability in dealing with the problems of the mentally retarded."

The 1,900 patients at Caro suffer primarily from both mental retardation and epilepsy Anderson said.

MANISTIQUE

Art Club Plans Fair; Artist To Teach Classes

Through the Michigan Council for Arts, an artist in residence, Sheldon Iden will be in Manistique Aug. 7-18 to conduct classes for anyone interested in art.

The classes will be held in Central school and will deal with figure painting, portraiture, landscape, still-life, abstract color, design and collage. Sessions will be 1 to 4 and 7 to 10 p.m., five days per week. Registration is $5.

Enthusiasm of the local Art Club and support of the Community school resulted in Manistique being selected as the first location for this new venture.

The annual Art Fair of the Manistique club is scheduled Aug. 4-5, on the lawn of Central school. Large tents will house the exhibits. Any artist or craftsman is invited to display work.

A registration fee of $2 is charged plus a 10 percent commission on sales. Registration may be made until July 31 with Mrs. Charles Schuetter, 916 Manistique Ave.

A popular feature of the fair is the giving of a painting by a local artist. This year's exhibit expected to be even larger than last year, when 100 paintings were displayed.

School Accepts Bus Bid-Sets 67-68 Calendar

The Manistique Board of Education Tuesday night adopted bids of McFadden Corp. for a Wayne school bus body at $4200 and an International Chassis from Walter Linderoth for $4483.

Bids also were opened on workmen's compensation insurance and have been referred to the business manager and a board committee. Prices ranged from $1852.20 to $3116 minus experience modification credit.

The board set salary of the secretary in the superintendent's office and the bookkeeper at $2 per hour.

A leave of absence for Mrs. Clifford Cool to study a course on Canada at Northern Michigan University was approved, with application of sick leave pay credit for it. Driving of a bus by John R. Kelly in the summer program was approved.

A grant of $1500 was accepted for the work study program, with matching funds to come from the recreation fund as the workers can be used in the community school program. A $3,000 Mott Foundation grant also was accepted.

A recommendation of the superintendent regarding custodial salaries in the summer work program was changed to avoid complications due to auxiliary service employee negotiations.

Mrs. Duane Waters and Norman Join were appointed to the planning committee for the elementary secondary education act project and Ralph Gilman to the negotiating committee. Mrs. Donald Aldrich was appointed an election inspector at Hiawatha.

A school calendar was adopted, with Sept. 5 set for teacher meeting and registration and start of classes Sept. 6.

Boats Get Bigger

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Ed Savella started building boats several years ago. Each one he built was bigger than the last, and the latest project was a 33-foot cabin cruiser.

One of his friends, who helped remove part of a wall of his workshop to get the two-ton hull out, said that when Savella "starts to build a 40-footer, I'm leaving town."

RAY LUND, 441 Alger Ave., handcrafts guitars and for the past 28 years he and his wife, Viola, have played and sung in the Manistique and Blaney areas. The two met at a WLS talent search program in Manistique. Both taught themselves to play the guitar. Instruments that Lund has made include some electrically-amplified units, one with four strings and a small size one, which Mrs. Lund is playing in this picture. Native birdseye maple, birch, spruce and ironwood are used. (Daily Press Photo)

Kathy Hoholik Picked For Camp Shaw

Kathy Hoholik of Thompson has been selected to attend the annual 4-H conservation camp at Camp Shaw July 17-22. Leading conservationists assist in study of various phases of conservation.

Road Workers To Strike For Shift To Daylight Time

MONROE (AP) — Monroe County road workers figure they should be working on Daylight Saving Time hours and are ready to strike over the issue.

The independent union representing them voted 73-0 to strike on July 20 if their hours are not changed.

Crux of the problem is that the workers' current contract says their hours are from 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

When the recent change to DST came, the county moved the hours to 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Workers objected, but the county said that asphalt and other materials were not set as firmly in the early morning as they would be an hour later after the sun had a chance to warm the roads.

Cops Cars Rifled

DETROIT (AP) — Thieves stole property from the parked cars of two policemen at an East Nine Mile Road precinct headquarters.

Paper Mill Gives $5,000 To Scouts

The Manistique Pulp and Paper Co. has pledged $5,000 to the annual Boy Scout fund drive. The pledge is the largest by an industry to date.

Thus far $60,000 of the $250,000 goal has been pledged. Construction at the new district camp is being financed with some of the proceeds.

Frank S. Hoholik, president of the Manistique paper company heads the fund drive.

Ann Arbor Gets Teacher Accord

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Negotiating teams for the Ann Arbor Teachers' Association and the Board of Education have reached agreement on a $1.57 million pay and fringe benefit package for Ann Arbor school teachers.

The agreement reduces the threat of a teacher strike this fall.

Boy Collars Snake

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Somebody yelled "snake!" at a bus depot and pandemonium reigned.

That is, until a small boy whose name was just in the shuffle calmly coiled the 12-inch garter snake. He turned his prize over to the bus station baggage department.

School Invites Visitors Friday

Visitors have been welcomed to the Manistique Headstart, tot lot, pep lot, basic skills and recreation programs Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Headstart enrollments are: Germfask 15, Garden 28, Lincoln 11 and Lakeside 9. The basic skills program has 402 enrolled in Manistique area and Big Bay de Noc schools. The enrichment programs have 495 attending. Of these there are 103 at the tot lot, 60 at the pep lot, 146 in swimming, 126 in recreation baseball and 120 in science.

Romney To Recall Legislators Oct. 10

LANSING (AP) — The executive office announced that Gov. George Romney is considering calling the legislature back into special session beginning Oct. 10.

Confirmation by the governor's office followed an advisory note sent to the Senate by Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, advising senators that the governor contemplates a special session beginning Oct. 10 and ending Nov. 3.

Little League All-Stars Picked

The Manistique All-Star team has been selected and will play its first game at 3:30 p.m., July 14 against Munising.

Also playing that day will be Escanaba-Marquette at 2 p.m. The championship game will be at 2 p.m., July 15.

Picked for the Manistique team are Lewis D. Carley, Patrick W. Savage and Guy A. Swagart of Cooks, Robert M. Clark, Jaycees.

Patrick R. Clement, Randy L. DeMars, John Gregurash, Jack L. Roemer Jr., and Richard J. Stevens of State Savings; James S. Creighton, and Donald L. St.

John of Local 4302; Lawrence Nelson, Inland; Gerald L. Sample and Richard C. Stram, First National.

Alternates are Leonard J. Aldrich of Hiawatha and Darryl J. Bertrand, Inland.

What are they? Who may buy them?

Americans have put their savings to work for freedom through U.S. Savings Bonds for many years. New Freedom Shares do the same job... plus. Read how.

Freedom Shares are U.S. Savings Notes. They pay a higher return than Savings Bonds, 4.74% when held to maturity. And they mature in just four and a half years.

For regular Bond buyers only
These new Freedom Shares—which are not redeemable for the first year—are offered on a one-for-one basis with E Bonds, but only to people who belong to the Payroll Savings Plan where they work or the Bond-a-Month Plan where they bank.

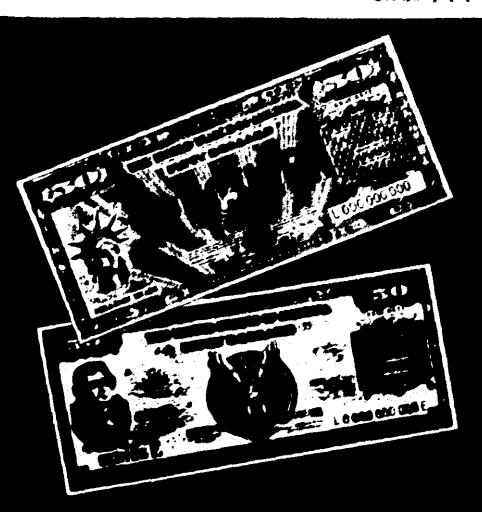

There are four denominations of Freedom Shares, each of which may be paired with a Series E Bond of the same or larger denominations as a "package." For instance, for $39 total, you can purchase a Savings Bond that matures at $25 and a Freedom Share that matures at $25.

America needs your help
When you buy Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares you do an important job for freedom, backing our men in Vietnam and helping to keep the country economically strong. The need is urgent. What you do counts.

Sign up
Tell your supervisor or the Payroll Department where you work (or any officer where you bank) that you'd like to join a Bond purchase plan. Decide how much you'll save... whether you want Freedom Shares as well as Bonds... and just sign the authorization card.

You'll be helping your country as you help yourself. And the country needs your help.

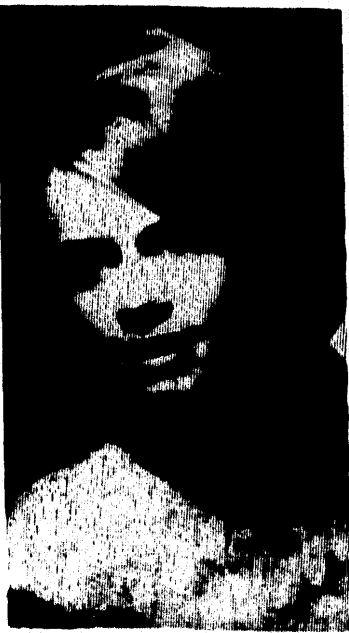

The U.S. Government does not pay for this advertisement. It is presented as a public service in cooperation with the Treasury Department and the Advertising Council.

Maid of honor for her sister was Betty Lueneburg, sister of the bride and bridesmaids were Donna and Vivian Sturdivant, sisters of the bridegroom. Flower girl was Barbara Lueneburg, sister of the bride.

Serving as bestman was Dave Jaques of Wells and groomsmen were Frank Nelson and Roger Gardner. Seating the guests were James Lueneburg and Russ Sturdivant. In the role of ringbearer was Kenneth Lueneburg.

The bride selected a white Chantilly lace over satin gown for her wedding, styled with a bouffant skirt and lace sleeves. A crown of pearls and sequins held her elbow length veil and she carried a nosegay of red sweetheart roses and white carnations with trailing ivy.

The maid of honor was attired in a blue crepe empire styled gown with a lace overlay on the bodice and matching headpiece. The bridesmaids wore identical pink gowns and headpieces. They carried nosegays of pink and white mums.

The mother of the bride wore an aqua dress styled with lace sleeves and Mrs. Sturdivant chose a light blue two piece dress. Both mothers were presented with corsages of yellow roses and white carnations.

The wedding reception was held at the Eagles Club from 4 to 8 p.m. followed by a dance. Following a wedding trip to Madison, Wis., the newlyweds will reside in Escanaba. The bride is a 1967 graduate of Escanaba Area High School and Mr. Cook attended Escanaba Area High School and is presently employed at Marble Arms Corp. of Gladstone.

Out of town guests attended from Wisconsin, Ohio and the surrounding area.

H. E. Petersons Honored On Silver Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Peterson, 1414 S. 3rd Av., were honored at a party given for them by their daughter Bonnie in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary.

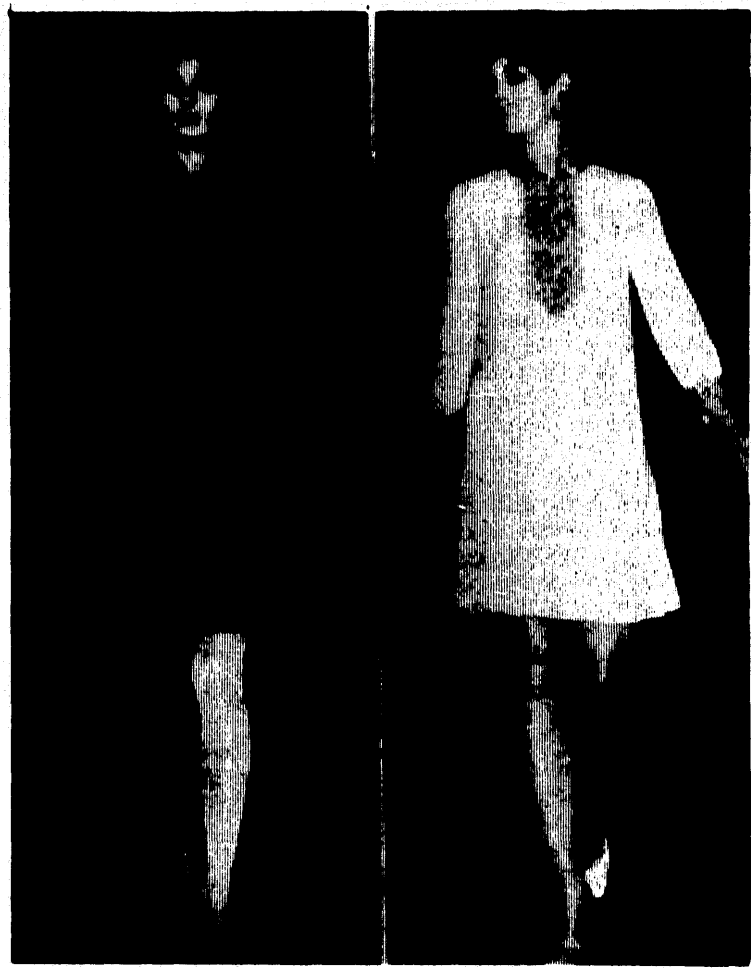

The Petersons were married June 27, 1942 at the Bethany Lutheran Church by Dr. C. A. Lund. Their attendants were Mrs. Peterson's brother, Clarence Erickson, and Mrs. Jean Coutant, sister of Mr. Peterson.

A reception was held at their home from 2 to 5 p.m. with about seventy guests attending. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Vern Coutant and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coutant and family of Sault Ste. Marie, Mrs. J.J. Campbell of Green Bay, Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Moroni of Iron Mountain, and Mrs. Alma Jensen and W. Earl Nelson of Milwaukee.

A short program was presented with Mrs. Dorothy Olson singing, "I'll Walk With You", and "O Promise Me" accompanied by Bonnie Peterson.

Mrs. Peterson surprised everyone by wearing her wedding dress for the occasion.

When you are using a bag holding seasoned flour for coating chicken pieces, add only a few pieces of chicken at a time to the bag. This way you have the best chance of having the coating even.

Wolverine Net Up

ROCKFORD, Mich. (AP) — Net sales and other operating income of Wolverine World Wide, Inc., makers of Hush Puppies shoes, increased to $9,327,074 for the 12 weeks ending June 17, the company reported.

This compares to $9,046,407 for the same period last year.

House Scrutiny
Of Credit Costs
Set For August

WASHINGTON (AP) — House advocates of the so-called truth-in-lending bill, approved unanimously by the Senate, say the House will begin hearings on the measure in three weeks.

The controversial legislation cleared the Senate 92 to 0 Tuesday after only 2½ hours of debate.

House sponsors said hearings will be conducted by one of the bill's strong backers, Chairman Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., of the Consumer Affairs subcommittee.

Some opposition generated by retailers, bankers and others melted away in the Senate after several compromises were made in the bill's provisions.

Many of its foes also became reconciled to its passage in some form during the lengthy consideration starting after former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., introduced it in 1960.

The bill would require disclosure of the cost of loans on items for which $100 billion of debt now is outstanding. The theory is that this will enable consumers to shop for the most advantageous credit terms. The bill would not regulate interest rates or credit charges.

Consumers would have to be told two things on most debt transactions—the annual percentage interest rate and the total finance charge in dollars and cents.

The biggest type of borrowing covered would be auto loans, now totaling more than $30 billion.

Also affected would be $20 billion of personal loans, about $20 billion of second mortgages, $19 billion of loans for appliances and other consumer items, $7.8 billion worth of single payments loans, and $3.6 billion worth of repair and modernization loans.

Thus, a lender financing a $2,200 automobile for installment payments of $75 a month for three years would have to tell the borrower the payments included a $500 financing charge and a 16 per cent annual interest rate.

Detroit Boat Club
Denies Charge Of Discrimination

DETROIT (AP) — The all-white Detroit Yacht Club has been accused of "an exclusion policy" against Negroes by Congressman Charles C. Diggs, Detroit Democrat.

Diggs made his charges in a telegram to the State Civil Rights Commission Wednesday and his allegations were denied quickly by the club's commodore, Duncan James.

"I don't know what the congressman is after," said James. "As far as I'm concerned, there is no discrimination."

The commodore said that the 3,000-member club, which leases city-owned property on Belle Isle, an island park in the Detroit River, never has had a Negro applicant in its 96-year history.

Richard V. Marks, director of the city's Commission on Community Relations, called James' statement on a lack of Negro applicants "a mockery."

"People generally do not apply to where they know they are not welcome," said Marks. "The fact is that the Yacht Club does not invite into its membership any who are not white."

James said the club's membership applications contain no references to race, color, religion "or anything else that might be considered discriminatory."

Garrett Heyns,
Former Warden
Is Seriously Ill

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Garrett Heyns, 75, former warden of the Ionia Reformatory and nationally known penologist, is reported in "very serious" condition at an Olympia, Wash., hospital.

Doctors said Heyns suffered a "series of heart attacks."

Heyns was warden at Ionia until 1957 when he was named director of the Washington State Department of Corrections. While in Michigan, he was a member of the Michigan Parole Board and director of the Michigan Department of Corrections. He attended Calvin College in Grand Rapids and earned a Ph. D. at the University of Michigan.

Hearing In County
Apportionment Is Set For October

LANSING (AP) — The State Court of Appeals is inviting interested parties to join in another legal battle over one-man, one-vote apportionment of Michigan's county boards of supervisors.

The court plans to hear oral arguments in October on whether a state law passed in 1966, requiring that each county be divided into between 5 and 35 equal-population districts violates the State Constitution.

Also at issue is whether the State Constitution conflicts with the U.S. Constitution in the area of county apportionment.

The 1966 law requires that county boards be elected next year on the equal-population principle.

Angels Take Shot At White Sox

By The Associated Press
A week ago Minnesota's raring Twins arrived in Chicago to challenge the White Sox American League lead in a four-game series.

A split kept Eddie Stanky's crew on top, and now it's California's turn to take a shot at the leaders.

Sam McDowell softened the White Sox up Wednesday night with a six-hitter as Cleveland stopped Chicago 5-3. It was the only game scheduled in the American League and shaved the Sox' lead to 1½ games over Detroit, two games over Minnesota and four over California.

In the only National League game played Wednesday, Mike Shannon cracked a two-run eighth inning homer that lifted first place St. Louis to a 4-3 victory over Pittsburgh.

The Angels bring a six-game winning streak into Chicago tonight and will have their new ace, George Brunet, ready to face the White Sox.

California spent much of May in the American League cellar but since June 7, Bill Rigney's team has spun off a 25-8 record and zoomed six spots in the standings.

Brunet, who dropped nine straight after winning the season's opener, is 6-2 during the hot streak and 7-11 overall. Joel Horlen, 10-2, opposes the Angels.

Stanky used six pitchers trying to beat the Indians Wednesday, but Cleveland scored five runs in the first three innings and that was enough for McDowell, 6-7.

Sudden Sam, 6-7, threaded his way through trouble and relied on his strikeout pitch for the big out. He walked the bases-full in the fifth inning but then struck out Tom McCraw and Tommie Agee for two of his eight strikeouts.

Max Alvis ignited a two-run Indian rally in the first with a double and then cracked his 11th home run of the year in the second.

Tommie John, 8-6, was knocked out in the first inning and took the loss.

Shannon's eighth-inning shot brought the Cardinals from behind and enabled St. Louis to open a four-game bulge over Chicago in the National League race.

Chicago Loss, Detroit Sweep Could Tie AL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sometime late tonight the Detroit Tigers could be sitting in a tie for first place in the tight American League baseball race.

Detroit sends Joe Sparrma and Denny McLain against the Washington Senators in a two-nighter doubleheader. Meanwhile, the California Angels play the league-leading White Sox at Chicago.

If Detroit wins them both—and the Tigers currently have won seven of their last eight—and Chicago loses, the two clubs will be tied.

Cleveland beat the White Sox 5-3 Wednesday night in the only American League game played. That cut the Sox margin over Detroit to 1½ games. Minnesota is two games behind first.

Sharp Last Outing
McLain is 10-9 and Sparrma 9-1. McLain, who had a bad second half last year, threw a four-hit shutout at the Red Sox Saturday in his last outing.

Sparrma had a four-hitter going against Boston Friday night with two out in the ninth, but a home run and two singles drove him from the mound. The Tigers won in extra innings, but Sparrma didn't get credit for the victory.

Just before the All-Star break, Tigers Manager Mayo Smith said "We're still in it."

"We're lucky to be as close as we are and we could have been a hell of a lot further back," Smith said. "We went through a bad spell, but if we can keep going now, we're definitely in the race."

Al Kaline will be out at least another week with his broken hand.

Don Wert Recovered
Don Wert, however, is expected to be fully recovered from a pulled thigh muscle.

Last year the Tigers were in second place at the All-Star break, but McLain lost much of his effectiveness as a pitcher and Dick McAuliffe, then the All-Star shortstop, caught food poisoning and was out for weeks.

In addition, acting Manager Bob Smith, taking over for Charlie Dressen, came down with food poisoning and then he was found to have cancer. Dressen, who later died, was out with a heart attack.

This year, things could be different. Even when the Tigers went through a losing streak in June they managed to stay close to the pace.

A second-half splurge could put a pennant over Tiger Stadium for the first time in 22 years.

Kazmierski Wins In Women's Golf

ROYAL OAK (AP) — Joyce Kazmierski of Grosse Ile avenged a 1963 defeat by beating Mrs. Sally Werner 4 and 2 in the feature match of the second round of the Women's State amateur golf championship Wednesday.

"I waited a long time for this," said Miss Kazmierski. The last time the two met in the 1963 semifinals, Mrs. Werner, of Indianwood, won 3 and 1. Medalist Cynthia Hill of South Haven, a University of Miami, Fla., student, won her second straight match, whipping Mrs. Arthur Rosenberg 8 and 7.

Packer Rookies Start Training, Starr Signs

By The Associated Press
Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung, the twin trademarks of Green Bay greatness, headed south instead of north as the Packers prepared to open training camp without them for the first time in 10 years.

But quarterback Bart Starr, the most valuable player in the National Football League in 1966, is back after signing his 12th Green Bay contract Wednesday.

Drills for 37 Packer rookies began today, with 38 veterans reporting by Saturday, as NFL and American Football League clubs began preparing for a season that will run until the all-star games in late January.

Taylor, Hornung Gone
Both Taylor and Hornung, who helped the Packers to five division titles and four world championships, will be wearing the colors of the New Orleans Saints, the NFL's newest team.

Walker, Studstill Balk At Terms

DETROIT (AP) — It's contract-signing time at the Detroit Lions camp and at least one veteran said he could be a holdout.

"I'm going to try to get everything I can," linebacker Wayne Walker said Wednesday. "We're not that far apart, but we are far enough apart for me to be a holdout. This is new for me. Usually I'm signed by now. I've never gone down to the wire before."

General Manager Russ Thomas said the situation was about the same as in previous years, but he declined to go down a roster and name those signed and those unsigned.

Still Talking
He said, however, that flanker Pat Studstill, who had a great year last year, was unsigned.

Thomas indicated he and Studstill were some distance apart. "But we'll keep talking and eventually negotiate a figure we both can accept."

Thomas said many of the out-of-state players were unsigned "because I like to talk to them. I don't like to send a contract and have them feel 'that's it.'"

"We're not trying to cut anybody's salary; very few players have been offered the same contracts. There are moderate to good raises.

"After all, we finished 4-9 last season. As a team we weren't very good and only a few individuals had good years and you have to base negotiations on that," Thomas said.

Thomas said he anticipated no great problems in signing the remainder of the Lions. The rookies and a few second-year men reported at camp last Sunday.

Taylor played out his option at Green Bay to sign with the Saints and Hornung, bothered by a pinched nerve, was taken in the expansion draft.

Starr, who led the Packers to the world title last year, admits the two will be missed, but said the Packers still will have an effective blocking and running game with veterans Ben Wilson, Elijah Pitts and last year's bonus twins, Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski.

Coach Joe Kuharich of the Philadelphia Eagles of the NFL said he assumed that he would be without one of the Eagles' long-time backfield stars, Timmy Brown.

But Brown, who reportedly has been offered a television and motion picture contract, said "I will report to training camp and play for the Eagles this year," when contacted Tuesday in Hawaii. He said if the television and movie plans work out, the contract would not be effective until next January.

Rams Expect Gabriel
The Los Angeles Rams still expected quarterback Roman Gabriel to be on hand as they opened camp today for rookies and selected veterans. Gabriel's return apparently hinges on dismissal of a $200,000 suit brought by him against the Rams and Oakland Raiders of the AFL.

He contended the Raiders breached a contract he signed with them last year and that the Rams interfered with his contractual relations with Oakland.

Phil Verleger, attorney for the Rams, said he had been assured by Gabriel's attorney, Edward Masry, that he would ask for dismissal of the suit.

British May Go Ahead Alone On Open Tennis Plan

MONTEFLORE-BAINES, Luxembourg (AP) — England might rebel against the international lawn tennis federation, ruling body of the sport, and decide to hold open tennis championships without sanction.

The ILTF rejected Wednesday by 139 votes to 83 a British plan for open tournaments in which professionals and amateurs would compete for a two-year experimental period.

Herman David, chairman of the All-England Club which stages the Wimbledon championships, commented in London: "If progress cannot be made by constitutional means, we shall have to think about achieving it by unconstitutional means."

Dr. Giorgio de Stefani of Italy, newly elected president of the ILTF, declared "I cannot believe that any country would defy the ILTF and stage an open tournament. If it did, its players would be banned from competing in other ILTF countries. And then, what would we gain?"

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Cassius Clay, the boxing king with only tarnished traces of a title left, came to Sacramento asking for the chance to fight one more fight — one for the kids.

"If I must go to jail, I want to do one thing that you can remember me by," Clay told the California Athletic Commission Wednesday in a vain appeal to be licensed for a benefit heavy-weight match in Oakland.

Clay, who faces a possible five-year federal prison sentence said all but $100 of his purse would be sent to feed hungry children — both Negro and white — in Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama.

The 25-year-old Clay is appealing his conviction on a charge of refusing to be inducted into the armed services. He refused on religious grounds, as a minister of the Black Muslim faith.

Clay left the jammed hearing room without apparent bitterness after the commission rejected his application 4-0, with one abstention. He doffed his black suit jacket and folded it over his arm as he stepped into the searing 105-degree heat.

Clay said he would continue his ministerial efforts on behalf of his "Almighty God, Allah" in Los Angeles, San Diego and then back East.

Workers gathered at windows of the surrounding state office buildings and one admirer told Clay, "Look at the people up there. They want you to wave to them."

Clay waved and then smiled: "They must think I'm the champ."

But since his rebuff of the draft and his federal court conviction, nearly everyone has lifted recognition of Clay as heavyweight boxing champion. California in effect joined them with the commission's action Thursday.

The commission didn't announce why it turned down Clay, but several members referred to his conviction, questioned closely his status as a minister and his refusal to serve in the Army. They seemed skeptical of his motives in wanting to fight merely for the hungry children of the South.

ABC Mailing Mountain

It doesn't seem possible, but the American Bowling Congress is making mountainous preparations for the start of the 1967-68 winter season.

More than 300 tons of supplies, including 20 million pieces of printed matter, are being mailed to local bowling league secretaries and local associations.

Leagues, the ABC says, range from four to 44 teams. Most popular size is eight teams and there are some 34,500 of those.

Mailings are made from ABC headquarters in Milwaukee.

JACK NICKLAUS, defending his British Open golf championship, munches a banana, top, and explodes out of a trap, left, as photographers at Hoylake, Cheshire, England, study the young champion. Nicklaus fired a 71 in the opening round of the tournament, one under par, but he wasn't satisfied with his putting. He was a three shots behind the leader entering today's play, but experts figured that four straight 71s would be good enough to win. (AP Wirephotos)

Nicklaus Under Par, Unhappy With Putter

HOYLAK, England (AP) — Thirty-seven years ago Bobby Jones finished the first round of the British Open Golf Championship here in wind and wet weather and was delighted with his 70. He was equally delighted with a total of 291 for 72 holes which contributed to his grand slam in 1930.

Today Jack Nicklaus, 27-year-old Columbus, Ohio professional, was somewhat disturbed about an opening round 71.

The U. S. Open Champion, also defending his 1966 British Open crown, went off the sun-baked 6,995-yard par-72 Hoylake links Wednesday and promptly repaired to the putting green.

Nicklaus' 71 was three shots off the 68 shot by leader Lionel Platts of England. Four players had 69s and eight, including Masters champion Gary Brewer of Dallas, Tex., shot 70s. At 71 were seven others besides Nicklaus.

Until now, no one ever has broken up on the course in a major championship and managed to survive as a winner.

"Putts I often make wouldn't go down," said Nicklaus. He figured out he was either raising his putter or his head.

While he was plodding practice putts around and fans were watching, he said just about to nobody in particular:

"I'm still coming up on my putts."

If he does just that four times, running, it would be 284, four under par, by Saturday night and many would bet that's good enough for a second British Open title.

Still on golf, Bill Peterson of Ontonagon and Dave Contry combined for a nine-under-par 89 to win the Portage Lake Golf Club best-ball tournament. They had nines of 34, 32 and 33 in the 27-hole tournament. Contry, a member of Michigan Tech's golf team, was one under par himself.

Coaching Changes: Bob Willis, former football star at Isenheim and California, returns to Isenheim as head football coach; Owen Peterson, 29, a native of Kingsford, goes to Menominee as assistant basketball coach. Peterson was basketball coach for five years at Nabma, compiling a 57-22 record with teams that won four district and one regional championship.

Buntin was trying out with the Lions as a tight end, after the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association released him just before the start of the 1966-67 season.

Last November, his 25-year-old wife Evelyn started divorce proceedings against the 6-foot-7, 25-year-old Buntin.

"Everything seems to have gone to pot," Buntin said after his arraignment in Detroit's Recorder's Court Wednesday on a charge of writing a check for $75 with insufficient funds to cover it.

"I never meant to rook anybody," he said. "I just used bad judgement."

Buntin played on two Big Ten championship teams with the University of Michigan, including the 1965 squad that was second to UCLA for the national championship.

The bus will leave from Club 314 at 8 a.m. Friday. Cost of the trip is $10 per person. Reservations must be made by 8 p.m. today with Paul Vardigan, league treasurer, at 786-3551 or 786-1083.

The Escanaba All-Stars will tuneup for tournament play by facing the Esky Cubs at 6 p.m. today at All New Field.

Life Crumbles For Bill Buntin

DETROIT (AP) — Life seems to have crumbled to pieces for Bill Buntin, former basketball star of the University of Michigan.

Buntin today is free on a bad check charge on Monday, in what was possibly a final effort to carve out a career in professional sports. Buntin was dropped from the roster of the National Football League's Detroit Lions because of a bad knee.

Four U.S. Programs Aid College Plans

High school juniors and seniors in Michigan may obtain financial help for college under one of four federally supported programs.

Dr. Peter S. Mousolite, acting regional assistant commissioner of the Office of Education for Region V of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, urges seniors who have already been accepted at a college for the fall of 1967, and who need financial or other assistance, to contact the financial aid officer at the college and apply for a job, loan, grant or other help.

Region V, with headquarters in Chicago, is comprised of Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Wisconsin.

"Frequently," Dr. Mousolite said, "we get last-minute requests for financial help from students who are not aware that the college which has accepted them may have federally supported and other programs of assistance which could help see them through. Application should be made as soon as possible to the financial aid officer; nearly all student financial aid is administered directly by the colleges."

Four Programs
The four major federal programs of financial aid available to eligible students are: The National Defense Student Loan Program; the College Work-Study Program; the Educational Opportunity Grants Program; and the Guaranteed Loan Program.

During the 1967-68 academic year it is expected that these four programs will enable about 1,175,000 undergraduate students throughout the country to attend institutions of higher education at a total cost of over $1.1 billion.

Most colleges and universities in the United States take part in the National Defense Student Loan program, the oldest major program of student assistance which is federally supported.

Under this program students borrow directly from their colleges. Repayment and interest do not begin until after the student has ended his studies and may be extended over a ten-year period. An undergraduate student may borrow up to $1,000 each academic year to a total of $5,000. Graduate students may borrow as much as $2,500 per year to a maximum of $10,000. There is a special cancellation provision for student borrowers who become teachers.

Million Borrow
Since the beginning of the program, authorized by 1958 legislation, more than one million students have borrowed over $1 billion.

For the academic year beginning this fall, an estimated 16,609 students in Michigan, in attendance at 59 institutions of higher education, will borrow an estimated $8,589,792.

The College Work-Study Program provides jobs for students who need employment to help pay for college expenses. Generally, students work 15 hours a week while attending classes full-time and may work 40 hours a week during summer or other vacation periods. Students may work for their college in dining halls, laboratories, libraries and in maintenance work.

Or, they may work off-campus in public or nonprofit organizations, such as those in health, education, welfare or recreation. During the last school year an estimated 5,247 students attending 33 colleges in Michigan were employed in College Work-Study programs at an approximate federal cost of $3,795,632.

"Educational Opportunity Grants," Dr. Mousolite said, "is a new program that began operation in the fall of 1966. It is intended for undergraduate students in such extreme financial need that without the grants they could not attend college."

131,000 Aided
In its first year of operation, $58 million in federal grants enabled 131,000 students to attend college. These students, so long as they remain in good standing, are eligible to apply for grants for each year of undergraduate study. The grants range from $200 to $800 a year.

During the last school year 5,519 students attended college in Michigan with the help of Educational Opportunity Grants.

The Guaranteed Loan Program, which began operation in the summer of 1966, provides a means for students to borrow directly from their bank, credit union, savings and loan association or other eligible lender. While any student may borrow, the program is intended primarily to ease the heavy burden of educational costs for middle-income families.

For students whose adjusted family income is less than $15,000 a year the federal government pays the entire interest (6 per cent) during the school years and half the interest (3 per cent) during the repayment period, which begins when studies are terminated. The loans are "guaranteed" by a State agency, or a private nonprofit agency designated by the State.

"In spite of the 'tight' money market which existed as the program got underway, and still exists," Dr. Mousolite said, "between July 1, 1966 and Feb. 28, 1967, throughout the nation more than 260,000 students borrowed a total of more than $206 million in loans. During this time, 4,522 students in Michigan borrowed $3,458,490 for their college expenses."

In Michigan the Guaranteed Loan Program is administered by the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority, Commerce Building, 341 E. Grand River Ave., East Lansing.
